NUMBER 199

A Large Import of Real Mexican Hand Drawn Linens—PRICE & CO.

ELKS CARNIVAL CLOSED WITH GREAT SUCCESS.

The four-night Carnival of Nations given by the Roswell Lodge of Elks closed last night. It was a "fake" affair, so intended and so advertised, and everybody who went knew that the attractions, for the most part were fakes of some sort. The people went with the idea of having a good time at their own expense, and most of them enjoyed it. For the Elks, it was highly satisfactory, for they cleared at least eleven hundred dollars. The total receipts were $2,104.25, and the total expense was between $500 and $1,000. An accurate statement will be made as soon as the figures are obtainable.

The order maintained on the grounds was perfect, with one slight exception, and City Marshal Rascoe deserved a great part of the credit, the balance being due to the orderly character of Roswell people in their pursuit of innocent amusement. The one little disturbance that occurred was immediately put down by Mr. Rascoe.

The last night was closed with an open air "battle royal" and boxing match. Four boys started in the barrels, and the last two standing fought it out with the barrels in three rounds. It was called a draw, and the prize was divided.

The big drawings of the Carnival for prizes worth $25 and over, were won as follows:

Seventy-five dollar saddle, Mrs. Cy Leland, No. 65.
Fifty dollar bridge, Percy Evans, No. 49.

Gas range, $25, Mrs. T. C. Stewart, No. 48.

Silver Tea set, $25, Miss Lizzie Stevens, No. 48.

Navajo Rug, $25, H. P. Hobson, No. 82.

Serape rug, $25, Miss Iva Elliott, No. 48.

Lady's tailor made suit, $25, Mrs. Fanny Whitmore, No. 77.

Five years subscription to Roswell Daily Record, $25, auctioned off to five persons.

The winners of the prizes for decorating windows and store fronts have not been picked by the committee. They will be announced Monday.

With the money made on the carnival the Elks will finish paying for their lots at the corner of Second street and Richardson avenue, for which they paid $4,500 and still owe $1,100. Almost half of the receipts were spent immediately in Roswell, as expenses. The other half will go on the lot and remain in Roswell. The Elks are now discussing several plans to finance and build an opera house and club house on their lots.

Joyner and Jas. W. Willson, all of Roswell.

THE GILKESON HOTEL SERVED MEALS TO-DAY.

Roswell's splendid new hotel, The Gilkeson, at the corner of Third and Richardson ave., was opened for business today, the first meal served being breakfast. The building was erected by L. C. Walker and was fitted under the direction of and furnished by J. E. Gilkeson, who is landlord and proprietor under lease of the building. The structure, plumbing and such other fixtures put in by Mr. Walker reached a total cost of over twenty thousand dollars. The furniture alone, put in by Mr. Gilkeson was installed at a cost of $4,000.

The hotel is not large, but excellence is the object of the planners. There are more than forty rooms in the building, however, thirty of which are supplied with beds and five of the bed-rooms with individual bath. The hotel is a model of convenience. The spacious veranda opens into the lobby and office, though which the guests will find immediate access to a perfectly appointed wash and toilet room, also through the hall to the dining room, which is a beautiful room at the rear of the ground floor, well lighted with windows and electricity. Abutting on the dining room is the pantry and relish room, which is also a fresh air reservoir between the dining room and kitchen. These supply rooms are perfectly arranged for the convenience of the employees, and for giving the best service. Mr. Gilkeson was for years a manager for the celebrated Harvey eating house system, and the Harvey system will be maintained in the management of this hotel.

All the bed-rooms are what every traveler and every roomer always wants—"outside" rooms. They are elegantly furnished, some in mahogany, some in quarter-sawn golden oak, and some in bird's-eye maple. Most of the rooms are on the upper floor, which is reached through the office or at the rear. The parlor is also on the second floor.

The Carnival Band.

Considering the difficulties under which the organization labored, the Carnival Band scored a great success during the Elks' Carnival. Only three days practice together and a lack of instruments as well as the failure of special music to arrive, handicapped the band a little, but were well pleased. Last night the cornet solo by Verdi Croft especially attracted the attention of discriminating musicians. Placing the cornets in the lead has corrected a defect in the old band. Prof. D. N. Croft is the leader and director of the new band, and proposes to make the organization permanent, adding several instruments and buying new music himself, if he can't get it any other way. The instrumentation during the carnival was as follows:

Verdi Croft, solo cornet.
Charles Norvell, first cornet.
Haydn Croft, solo clarinet.
Roscoe Brown, first clarinet.
George Hinson, piccolo.
Clarron Render, alto.
Adolph Kling, alto.
C. A. Emmett, trombone.
Christy Webb, baritone.
Stanley Norvell, snare drum.
Homer Graham, bass drum.
Prof. Croft, basso.

It is presumed that the plan of making the organization permanent depends upon the action of the city and the members of the old band, who have faithfully served without any remuneration to speak of for many years. At any rate the Record hopes that harmony may be restored and that Roswell will continue to have the best band in the Pecos Valley.

FAMOUS SELBY ABBEY DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Selby, England, Oct. 20.—The famous old church here known as Selby Abbey, is a total ruin, as the result of fire which broke out in the organ chamber at midnight. The local fire brigade was unable to quell the flames, and brigades were sent from York and Leeds, but too late to save the historic building, only the bare walls being left. Selby Abbey was considered one of the finest monastic edifices in England. It was founded in the twelfth century by Benedictines, and part of the original nave and transepts survived. The Abbey possessed some interesting sculptures and the tombs of abbots who presided over its destinies during the rule of the Normans.

MEXICO WILL BE LENIENT WITH UNCLE SAM.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The State Department has been informed that the Mexican government has given instructions to her gunboats and revenue cutters which are employed in breaking up fishing by American smugglers in the territorial waters of Mexico, to refrain from any unnecessary interference with vessels outside the three-mile limits and to be as lenient as possible in other respects.

Funeral of Mrs. Greenlee.

The funeral services of Mrs. J. R. Greenlee, who died October 17, 1906, at 10:30 a. m. at 101 South Missouri avenue, of tuberculosis, were held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Divers, 512 North Missouri avenue, on Thursday, Oct. 18, 1906 at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Edwin Emerson Davis, of New York City, now supplying the pulpit of the Presbyterian church here, conducted the services, and was assisted by Rev. C. E. Lukens, M. D., late pastor of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. H. F. Vermillion, pastor of the Baptist church.

Mrs. Greenlee's maiden name was Jessie Ellen Wilkins, and she was born November 24, 1865, in Burkinghamshire, England. She was married to James Russell Greenlee at Glasgow, Mo., December 26, 1894. Her husband and one child, Edith, ten years old, survive her. Mr. and Mrs. Greenlee have resided in Roswell for two years, and became members of the Presbyterian church soon after coming here. Mrs. Greenlee has been a church member since her childhood.

The relatives present at the funeral were Mr. Greenlee's brother, John Greenlee, and his two sisters, Mrs. Frank Divers of Roswell and Mrs. M. M. Miller of Fayetteville, Mo.; also Mrs. M. C. Greenlee, of Warrensburg, Mo., sister of Mr. Frank Divers, and her daughter, Miss Mary Greenlee, of Roswell.

Mrs. Greenlee was a woman of unusual depth of character. She was a quiet, gentle, womanly woman, intelligent, thoughtful and considerate of others, a consistent Christian, and a devoted, loving wife and mother. She bore her sufferings with courage and patient, firm submission to the will of God.

The remains were laid to rest in Southside Cemetery.

NEWSPAPER ENGLISH.

Superfluity of Words the Most Common Fault of Writers. From The Nation.

Writing for daily or weekly publication can seldom strike a high level. Modern journalists too often follow Shakespeare's example in never blotting a single line—not that they regard their product as impeccable, but that they have scant time for revision. The event of the week, an earthquake in San Francisco or the adjournment of congress, presses for notice; the clock ticks, "Now or never." All things considered, the wonder is not that journalistic writing is generally bad, but that it is ever good.

The fault of much manuscript submitted to this journal, for example, is not erratic punctuation, grammatical blunders, or improprieties. These are superficial vices. The articles are clogged with words, all of them correct, a fourth of them superfluous. In preparing manuscript for press more editorial labor is spent on trimming out the undergrowth of words than on any other one thing. Learned gentlemen imagine that we are eager for papers which began thus: "Among the many interesting questions—and they are being various and important—which are being discussed at the beginning of the twentieth century by educators in all parts of this country, none demands more, if as much, serious consideration from parents, teachers and pupils, from colleges trustees and school superintendents—in a word, from all those who are devoted to the development of humane studies—than the instruction of our boys and girls in the fine, and we may even say indispensable, art of writing English."

Apply the blue pencil unsparingly, and we get something like this: "Teaching English composition is one of the most important questions now before educators." Pruning is not everything, but it often makes an apparently dull article almost vivacious.

LOOK HERE.

A 60 acre farm fronting on 2nd Street, 1 1/2 miles from city limits for sale at a bargain. The improvements consist of a small house, some orchard, 10 acres in alfalfa, an artesian well and good fencing. We can give a bargain in this property, either for cash or will trade for Hondo or other lands. When we say we can sell at a bargain we mean that we can sell for much less than its real worth. You may tear down the house, fill up the well, grub out the orchard and destroy the alfalfa and the place is worth more money than our price. See us at once. Carlton & Bell.

MEXICAN REVOLUTIONISTS ARRESTED AT EL PASO.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 20.—Five men were arrested here early this morning, charged with being Mexican revolutionists. The papers captured show their connection with juntas in other Texas towns and also in St. Louis. Among those arrested is Gen. Pedro Gonzales, the alleged leader, Lauro Aguirre, publisher of the Reforma Social, a Mexican daily. The most sensational arrest is that of Captain Castro of the Juarez military Garrison. Simultaneously with the raids on this side of the river, the Mexican authorities raided houses in Ciudad Juarez and arrested seven men. Absolute silence is maintained
